Ichiban Commercial Solutions have been awarded a three-year contract as part of the Business Local panel. The contract was extended in July 2021 for a further 2 years.

Since November 2018, Celia has been providing procurement support to BMT Australia as part of its new mercury waste treatment facility in Australia. Celia furthermore stepped in as interim director for BMT Australia since September 2019, managing the project completion, start up and operation of the facility until September 2020.

Chief Judge, WAITTA INCITE Awards

March 2017 – date

WAITTA INCITE is the Western Australian premier technology awards and draws together volunteers of the highest caliber within the ICT industry to organise and manage the judging and awards process.

During 2021, Celia was part of the judging council of the iAwards and lead judge in the iAwards' Tech Platform of the Year category.

Celia is also the Western Australian representative for the National Pearcey Entrepreneur of the Year program.

Interim Managing Director at BMT Australia Pty Ltd
September 2019 – September 2020

Supporting BMT Mercury Technology as interim Managing Director of its Kwinana Mercury Treatment Facility.

BMT Mercury Technology commenced its operations in the Netherlands in 1991 and has been providing total mercury and NORM management solutions to the industry since that time. The company is a leading mercury waste management specialist that purifies, treats and recycles mercury contaminated waste substances which are hazardous by-products of the oil and gas, gold mining and power generation industry. Celia provided procurement and commercial support to BMT Australia since July 2017.

Supply Chain Manager at Tronox December 2011 – June 2015

Part of the global supply chain team, Celia managed and lead the major contracts, contracts (full life cycle procurement) and stores at Tronox's Chandala and Cooljarloo sites. She was responsible for the negotiating and commercial management of the major mining contract, logistics, warehousing and energy (coal, gas and electricity) contracts for all Australian sites over the full life of these contracts. The commercial management included regular performance review meetings of major contracts.

Celia was also responsible for international procurement requirements from countries such as China and the US.

As Supply Chain Manager she was able to (directly and indirectly through her team) to demonstrate significant annual cost savings and process optimisation through commercial, negotiation and strategic initiatives.

Services/Contracts Manager at AngloGold Ashanti January 2011 – September 2011

Management and development of all services contracts for the Sunrise Dam and Tropicana sites.

Responsible for the commercial management of the open pit mining contracts, setting up the day-works contract and set up the labour hire contracts. She was specifically appointed to assist with getting contracts done as there was a massive backlog in getting contracts negotiated and implemented.

Management of dedicated Indigenous work group contracting.

Celia worked on a retainer basis with the open pit for approximately six months prior to being employed by AngloGold Ashanti.

Principal HSE Consultant at Ultimate Safety Solutions Australia August 2009 – January 2011

Providing strategic HSE and risk advice to clients; facilitation of risk management and training workshops; business improvement projects.

Worked on a retainer basis for the AngloGold Ashanti Open Pit for approximately 6 months.

As Principal HSE Consultant, Celia consulted in risk, OHS management, coaching and mentoring, auditing for the complete range of clients. She did various safety and risk projects within Iron Ore for BHP Billiton Iron Ore and Rio Tinto. She also completed a business development project ("The Way We Work") for the Sunrise Dam Open Pit Manager which involved the development of a "briefcase" detailing the processes, systems, monitoring and review and interfaces required for the way the open pit operates. It is as a result of the success and simplicity of the project that Celia attracted the attention of the General Manager of Sunrise Dam, leading to her employment at AGAA (as detailed above).

The key elements as Principal HSE Consultant included:

- Providing strategic HSE advice;
- Coaching and mentoring of client workforces on sound HSE practices;
- Development of HSE Management systems that meet and company and legal requirements;
- Facilitation of business, project and task specific risk assessments using proven risk assessment methodologies;
- Training and facilitation of HSE management systems, Leadership Training and Risk Management.
- Business improvement projects.

Risk Champion and Contractor Management at BHP Billiton April 2007 – July 2009 Business Risk Champion for the Ravensthorpe Nickel Options Study after Ravensthorpe's closure in January 2009;

Contractor Management Superintendent - responsible for implementing contractor management processes, demobilising contractors off site post Ravensthorpe shutdown as well as finalising demobilisation/termination claims;

Risk Champion – implementing business risk processes at Ravensthorpe, facilitated risk workshops, managed project risk management requirements for capital projects. I also worked as part of the RNO Options Study Project team, leading the risk management requirements for the options study.

In 2008, post commissioning but whilst ramping up, there was approximately 1500 contractors on site. The contractor management role was created as a role to ensure systems, processes and procedures were applied consistently across site for the different contractors but also for contractors providing services across different departments.

The Contractor Management Superintendent role facilitated the set up of consistent systems and processes for onboarding and managing contractors on site and included:

- Management of contractor management business area on site – consisting of 8 subordinates;
- Development and implementation of contractor management partnership and alignment process for the more than 1500 contractors on site;
- Development and implementation of contractor management structure and procedures on site to ensure consistency in the application of systems and procedures between contractors and between different departments and ensure site entry requirements developed and implemented;
- Coaching and mentoring of RNO and contractor contract owners;
- Development of demobilisation process and structure at suspension of operations;
- Demobilisation of contractors from site after the suspension of operations at RNO – most contractors demobilised within six weeks after suspension of operations (no incidents or accidents during the demobilisation process);
- Cleaning up issues regarding contractors over-charging;
- Finalisation of termination for convenience and demobilisation claims.
